Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 23 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely dry, some rain in the west. Strong winds throughout.

Today:
A dry day for most across the region, though some outbreaks of light rain are likely for western areas through the morning. Cloudy throughout and feeling mild. Strong winds, with coastal gales in the west. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry this evening, but some further rain will glance westernmost areas into the night, with possible patchy rain in western counties towards dawn. Windy, with coastal gales. Feeling mild. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Wednesday:
A dry start for most, but rain in the west will slowly track eastwards through the day, reaching easternmost areas during the evening. Cloudy throughout, with winds easing, feeling mild. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Lighter winds, sunshine, and showers Thursday. Dry and bright Friday and Saturday. Mild by day, but with overnight frost and fog by Friday, with nights becoming colder.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.